Abstract

Hossein Riazoshams,
Lamerd Islamic Azad University, Lamerd/Iran
riazihosein@gmail.com

In this article, we attempt to find some statistical models for covid 19 infected population in Iran and Fars. These modeling's, regardless of external parameters, include medication, changes in strategies, number of people in contact, and so on. Clearly, the hypotheses and the multiplicity of available parameters have important implications for our models. But these are just some basic modeling for development into real issues.